BANGOR, April 7th, 1587.

Mrs. Thomas J. Cole,

Dear Madam:—For your kind services at Mount Hope for many years in the past, in decorating the grounds with flowers and shrubbery, and for your polite attention to visitors, the corporation, at the recommendation of the Executive Committee, voted to present you with some testimonial of their appreciation of such valuable services. I therefore have the pleasure of tendering you a silver tea set, a cake dish and a few silver tea spoons which I trust you will accept with our best wishes.

I am, very respectfully yours.

THE FIRERIES QUESTION.

The Teronto diebe on the President's Letter.

TORONTO, April II.; The Globe to-day says: The letter of President Cleveland to the president of the Fishery Union of Gloneester, Mass., is a remarkable and important document. It is not such a letter as Americans interested in fisheries desired to receive from the President, but the letter was evidently intended as a warning to Canadians also. While we desire that the rights of Canadia be fairly and efficiently asserted and mantained, we hope that American fishermen will not be refused any privileges to which they are entilled and that they will gover experience anjust or unfriendly treatment from those employed in the protection of our rights. It would be folly however, to put out of sight the fact that many in the United States including apparently the President blusself and smembers of his Cabinet, assertims the fishermen of the United States have rights in our waters which we believe they have not under the terms of the treaty now in force, and that there are privileges to which they are entitled in the opinion of the President to which we say they have not the whatever. From this meanderstanding if we assert what, we believe to be our rights; greater, misunderstanding may affect. This letter although the lower than any affect.

the Coercion Policy.

A Tremendous Mass of People. Estima ed at 150,000.

Attencal LONDON, April II. The day appointed for the great demonstration in London against the Irish coercion bill now before the House of Commons opened by illiantly, the weather being balmy, and the sun shining brightly. Vast crowds of people are marching towards Hyde Park, where the meetings are to be lidd. Iron every are marching towards Hyde Park, where the meetings are to be lidd, from every district of London with bands banners and carriages tilled with the leaders in the day's exercises. The utmost cubuslasm prevails in the turongs.

Many of the banners exhibited bear por-traits of Gladstone, Michael Davitt and Father Kellon and the inscription Justice for Ireland." Fourteen platforms for the use of orators have been erected in Hyde Park and occurve the whole frontages facuse of orators have been erected in Hyde Park and occupy the whole frontage facing the Iashionable Park lane. All those taking part in the procession from the east to the west end of London wear green rosettes to imitate the Irish emblem, the shamrock. A large force of police are held in reserve for an energency.

An Attendance of 130,000 People. An Attendance of 180,000 People.
Estimates of the attendance at the meeting vary, but it is certain that 150,000 persons including on-lookers were present. The procession took an lour and a half to tile into the park. The first contigent was composed of members of Robert Emmet Lodges. Then followed a large number of like temperance lodges, radical workmen's clubs and social democratic golettes. Numerous bands of music were ocieties. · Numerous bands of music were decicties. Numerous bands or music were in line. While passing Carleton and other Conservative clubs the bands played the 'Dead March, and Saul' and the 'Marselllaise.' Green bannurs and frish national emblems were conspicuous in the ranks of the parade. Among the mottoes displayed on bancers were these: 'Jusdisplayed on banners were these: "Jus tice to Ireland," Friendship, not Bayonets,"

The Effect of the Careful arrangements which had been made to avoid confusion were seen in the admirable order in which the paraces grouped them-selves around the fourteen platforms. The greatest throng gathered around the plat-form from which Lord Mayor Sullivan, of greatest throng gathered around the plat-form from which Lord Mayor Sullivan, of Dublin, and Messrs. Conybeare and Wil-liam Redmond, members of Parliament, spoke. Lord Mayor Sullivan, in the course of his most effective speech, asked: "Is it the wish of the workmen of London that the honest, hard-working tenantry of Ire-land shall be forever crushed?" A tremen-dous responsive "No" resounded through-out the park. The mention of the Queen about to celebrate her jubiles by signing away the liberties of the people of Ireland brought forth and the mention of Chamberlain's name in about three weeks, with his popular company which gives good satisfaction cries of "Trailor." Michael Davitt appeared at the Socialist platform. He referred to the demonstrations as a proof of approaching solidarity of the people of Great Britain and Ireland.

Join Burns, Socialist leader, followed Mr. Daylit. He declared that the state of Ireland justified civil war and that the English people were ready to assist the Irish people to revolt. At 4.30 the bugle sounded and at this prearranged signal the resolution cordemning the Crimes bill was simultaneously offered at all the platforms. The resolution was carried amil a roar of cheers.

I believe, Frank Muller, that there is a God, and I believe that God sots a limit to a man's doings. If he is going too far, God kills blim. If you live, Frank Muller, you will do these things, but perhaps God will kill you. Who can say? You will do what God wills, not what you will."

The elder man was speaking seriously now Muller felt that this was none of the whining cant people in authority among the Boers find it desirable to adopt. It was what he thoughd, and it chilled Muller in spite of his pretended skepticism, as the sincere belief of an intellectual man, however opposite to our own, is apt to chill us into doubt of ourselves and our opinious. For a moment his slumber ing superstition awoke, and he felt half afraid. Between him and that bright future of blood and power lay a chill gulf. Suppose that gulf should be death, and the future nothing but a dream—or worse! His face fell as the idea occurred to him, and the general noteed it.
